

RARES CRISTIAN OLTEANU

SOFTWARE DEVELOPER

As a 20-year-old aspiring professional based in Bucharest, Romania, I am deeply committed to utilizing my engineering skills to develop innovative applications. With a strong foundation in electronics engineering from Polytechnic University of Bucharest, I am skilled at using programming languages such as C++, C#, Python, and Java to bring creative ideas to life. I am actively seeking employment opportunities where I can apply my versatile skill set in software development, system administration, or related fields to contribute meaningfully to impactful projects.

You can contact me via email or connect with me on other social media platforms that you can find by navigating to my website.
